

2017 survey findings A Resilience Snapshot in the City of Greater Dandenong Years 9 & 10

What is resilience?

Resilience is the ability to flexibly cope with the demands of life and bounce back after times of adversity. Building resilience is about developing individual character strengths and relationships with others, as resources to draw upon when required. The more of these resilience strengths a young person has, the more they will develop and fulfil their potential in school and life. They are also less likely to engage in risk taking behaviours.

What is the Resilience Survey?

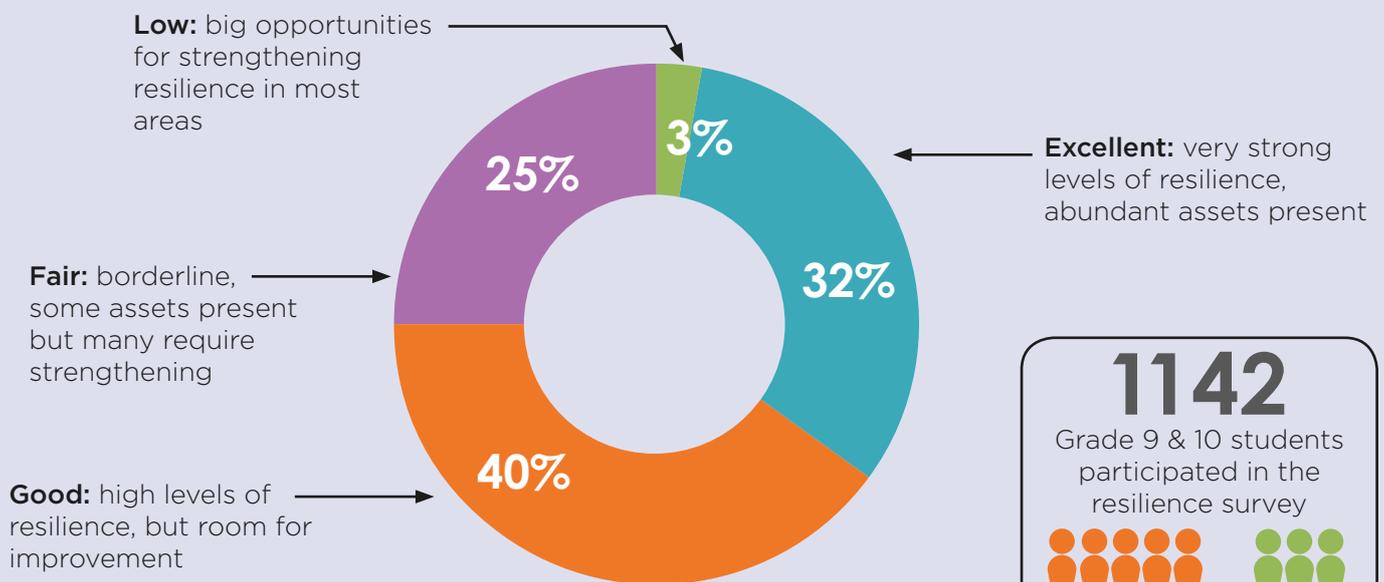

In 2017, the City of Greater Dandenong partnered with Resilient Youth Australia and local schools, capturing over 5,800 survey responses across Grade 3 to Year 12. The resilience survey provides a comprehensive picture of resilience in young people in the City of Greater Dandenong.

The survey provides feedback on more than 80 indicators of resilience across a range of areas. These indicators are the qualities, opportunities and conditions that characterise high levels of resilience. They act as assets or protective factors in a young person's life.

Year 10 is where the lowest reported levels of resilience occur. It coincides with increased feelings of alienation and disconnection, although the origins to this low point may occur earlier. If we can intervene by fostering supportive relationships and community connection, we will substantially improve resilience.
